CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—It was a case of dor eat dos in the wheat market to-day. From the scarcity of December offerings and the quickness with which anything was taken a badly congested condition in that opinion was indicated. The close was firm at a lc. advance. Rains West and disappointing Liverpool cables caused a slight opening decline, the only weakness the market displayed. Corn was firm but closed unchanged. Oats were a shade higher at the finish. Provisions were weak, principally from the yellow-fever scare, and closed 59/12/sc. lower.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

The weakness in print clotis has had a bad effect on the market generally. In all stanle lines the demand has been quiet. Brown goods are firm in quiet remest. The market for ducks is quiet. Striped cottons in good demand, with weakening tendencies visible. Course goods are without feature in any grade. Print cloths are quite duil, considering the easy market. Prints and ginghams are firm. Woollens and worsted goods are without change.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., Oct. 16.-Speclal.-William Simms, the negro who died

Detective W. G. Hallwin, of Roaloge, left last night with William Parsons, who is wanted in Glies county for attempting murder.

There is nothing which Mr. H. E. Parker, superintendent of terminal, for the Chesapeaks and Ohlo, has done for the port of Newport News, which will be of more benefit to it than the many courtesies extended the British Steamship Inch-dune, which came here several days ago with her cargo of cotton on fire. The vessel was anchored in the stream and Mr. Parker tendered the use of tugs, floats and other means for fighting the fire at his disposal, to the master of the Inch-dune. About the same time the May-flower arrived at Portsmouth in similar condition. She was floandoned and but for the services rendered by the Merrit Wrecking Organization, the vessel would, it is thought, have been a total loss.

Mr. Parker is a gentleman who knows what couriesy is and never losses an oppopulative to prove this in a practical way.

The report that Mr. Morris Joo, proprietor of the Hotel lyy, will take charge of the Hotel Warwick on January 1st, is denied by L. B. Manville, superintendent of the Old Dominion Land Company. The Land Company owns the Warwick and the reported change in its management has caused considerable stir. Mr. Joo said yesterday that the matter stood in such a manner now that he could not talk in regard to it.

Mr. J. R. Swinerton has been at the head of the Warwick a number of years and is favorably known far and near by the traveiling public.

Rev. T. J. McKay. of Laberty, N. Y. will preach at the Second Hastist church to-morrow. This church is without a paster and it is understood that a call will be extended Mr. McKay.

DR. HIDEN'S SECOND LECTURE ON ITS ORIGIN AND HISTORY.

No Fears as to the Results of Careful, Can did. Even Critical Investigation of the Claims of the Various Books.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Hiden delivered at the Young Men's Christian Association Tues-day night the second in a course of lectures on the subject, "Origin and History of the New Testament." Dr. Hiden is recognized as an authority on sacred history, having given the sub-ject profound thought and careful re-search. Adding to his vast fund of insearch. Adding to his vast fund of information a powerful delivery and a peculiar gift as a teacher, Dr. Hiden's lectures at the Y. M. C. A. each Tuesday evening are attracting wide attention. In the course of his lecture last Tuesday night Dr. Hiden said:

"We need entertain no fears as to the results of careful, candid, even critical investigation of the claims of the various books of the New Testament. Some excellent Christian people have sometimes expressed their fears that the whole New Testament might be destroyed piece-meal;

Testament might be destroyed piece-meal; but apart from the very powerful external evidence of the genuineness and authority of the sacred books, there is the unanewerable question. Who could have forged such books? Bad men would not have written such books, even if they could, for they would have been writing their own condemnation. Nor could they have produced such a system of morality as the Gospel teaches, even if they had desired to do it. The very materials for such a system did not exist anywhere in the world. In some very important particulars, the moral teachings of Jesus were thoroughly original estament might be destroyed piece-meal; ings of Josus were thoroughly original and peculiar. How could such doctrines have originated with men who were capa-

"That men ever existed who were tapable of committing forgery?

"That men ever existed who were wise enough and good enough to devise such a system, and, at the same time, stupid and wicked enough to forge such books, is a supposition too monstrous to be entertained by any rational mind. And, as a matter of fact, the forgery hypothesis has long since been ahandoned by the most radical of the 'rationalists.'

ALL GENUINE.
"Christian scholars are now generally at one in the belief that all the books of our New Testament collection are gen-uine and authoritative. True, there is still considerable divergence of opinion as to the authorship of the Epistle to the Hebrews; but these doubts do not involve its authority as an inspired work. book are, of themselves, sufficient to settle this.

Second Epistle of Peter are still enter-tained by certain scholars; but these doubts may have arisen from a compari-son of the second chapter of this Epistle ed as is that which obtains among several of the evangelists in their accounts of the life and teachings of our Lord; and when we remember the relations other, and when we note the subject upon which they were both writing, it cannot be shown that the resemblance is more difficult to explain than is the reemblance between Matthew and Mark, thich will be explained further on. ARBITHARY INCONSISTENCY.

with a view to correcting errors of actions and of practice in the churches which he himself had founded. Nearly all these Epistles are controversial, that is to say, they were aimed at prevailing errors; and the same thing is, to a great extent, true of most of the books of the New Testament, and of not a few in New Testament, a extent, true of most of the books of the New Testament, and of not a few in the Old. The same thing may be said of many of the discourses of Jesus, as recorded by the evangelists. NECESSITY OF THE COLLECTION.

"Now, during the Apostolic age, doc-trinal disputes could be settled by ap-pealing to the Apostles themselves. "The Apostolic Council," as it is often called, which convened in Jerusalem (See Acts xv.) was called to settle one of the disputes which long agitated the Apostolic churches, and which gave serious trouchurches, and which gave schools to ble to Paul and Peter.

"But after the death of the last of the Apostles, and after the extraordinary manifestations of the Holy Spirit, inci-dent to the Apostolic age, had ceased, it came to be a matter of serious importa-dent to the Apostolic age, came to be a matter of serious importance to have some recognized and authoritative standard of doctrine, faith and practice; and hence the value of the New Testament collection.

"The Apostle John probably lived to the age of ninety years, and died about the close of the first cantury, during the reign of the Emperor Domitian. The extraordinary manifestations of the Holy Spirit, which marked the Apostolic age, may have lingared for some years after this; but, in the course of time, their object having been accomplished, they ceased; and then the necessity of collecting the Apostolic writings became apparent.

"These writings were read in the Apos "These writings were read in the Ap-tolic churches; but they were not the regular books for public reading in the ordinary Christian assembles for wor-ship. For this purpose the Old Testa-ment still retained its place; for one great

PRETTY ENTERTAINMENT,

Excellent Concert to a Fine Audience Northside Hall Friday Night.

Tuneful voices of a galaxy of pretty malvens, fairly made the welkin ring with Southern melodies at Northside Hall on Friday night. Responding to an invitation of the Ladies' Aid Society of Highland Park Methodist church the noted 'Dixle Chorus' was on hand with its entire cast, the transportation of which required an entire car, the Richmond Railway Company furnishing their handsomest car and which graceful act received much commendation. The audience that greeted Church Hill's musical combination was excellent in size and Northside Hall Friday Night, cal combination was excellent in size and personnel and the occasion was one of mutual enjoyment by the chorus and the auditors.

The programme went off without a hitch, Mr. Andrew Gill making an excellent stage director. The choruses, dialogues, character impersonations, etc., were admirably presented. Among the hits of the evening were soles by Misses Lelle Christian and "Tely" Woodward, dust by the Misses Christian; Misses Woodward and Fannie Gill; declaration by little Miss Blanche Bickers; dialect recitations by Mr. C. H. Smith; the "Dixie recitations by Mr. C. H. Smith; the "Dixie Drill" under the direction of Mr. C. E. Woodward, and the superb plane accom-

Woodward, and the superb plane accempainment playing of Miss Maud Gill; the cute duet by little Misses Benedict and Eldridge, excellently rendered.

The original "Uncle Sam" and "Dixle" were on hand and received with great cordiality. "Uncle Sam" getting in a Prohibition argument very cleverly. At the conclusion of the performance, the chorus was invited into the basement of the hall where the kind and thoughtful ladies had prepared a bountiful supply of ladies had prepared a bountiful supply of nice refreshments, which considerate act called forth the highest enconiums of praise and a formal speech of thanks

At half past 10 o'clock the company em At half past 10 o'clock the company embarked on their car homeward bound, attracting much attention by their pretty songs sung en route. The occasion will long be remembered as a most enjoyable one and the success is in no small degree due to the excellent plane accompaniment playing or Miss Maude Gill, who

PRESIDENT WELLER'S VIEWS. He Makes Some Very Interesting Statements About Nebraska.

Mr. Charles F. Weller, of Omaha, Neb.,
the newly elected president of the Wholesale Druggist Association, while attending the annual convention of that organibook are, of themselves, sufficient to ettle this.

"Some doubts as to the character of the iccount Epistle of Peter are still enteration in the course of conversation asked by a prominent gentleman, who resides in Richmond, in regard to the political situation in Nebraska, the home of the defeated nings Bryan.
"State pride alone," said Mr. Weller in "State pride alone," said Mr. Weller in reply, "was the reason which made Mr. Bryan carry his own State. If the election was to be held again to-day, the State would go against Mr. Bryan by from 40,000 to 50,000 majority."

Referring to the natural resources of Nebraska Mr. Weller said that the farmers in that State would realize from their cross this year more than the assessed crops this year more than the assessed value of all the property in the State amounted to. He could therefore see no reason why after this fall there should be any more need for mortgages on property in Nebraska.

Lakeside Sacred Concert.

Nothing has been more marked than the success of the Sacred Concerts at Lake-side Park, given there every Sunday at-

The hour is 3:30 on and after to-day, and the First Virginia Regiment Band will furnish the music, under the direction of Bandmaster A. J. Liess.

Bandmaster A. J. Liess.

A choice programme has been selected for this affernoon, and selections come from the works of Barnby, Keler Bela, Mendelssohn, Schumann and Bartlett.

Lakeside Park is beautiful now in its autumn dress, and is thronged every Sun-day afternoon.

State Council Jr. O. U. A. M.

State Representatives J. C. Williams and J. C. Heckert will leave for Lynchburg on Monday to represent Grove Council, No. 40, Jr. O. U. A. M., at the meeting of the State Council to be held there October 18th. Grove Council, No. 49, was instituted April 23d, 1894, with forty-one members. Since that time it grown until it now numbers nintey-three members in good standing. This council was organized by J. C. Williams and the members have shown their appreciation of his efforts by electing him to this pos-
